THE PROOF

Use these when a prospect asks "has this worked for anyone?" One real story beats ten feature bullets.

CLIENT WIN · REVIEW RESPONSE → PARALEGAL TEAMS · TRAINING EXAMPLE

"We had three 1-star reviews sitting unanswered for over a year. I kept meaning to deal with it and never did. CounterbenchAI responded to all three within 48 hours — professionally, no drama, no admissions. Two of the reviewers actually followed up and softened their original posts. We were at 3.6 stars. Six weeks later we were at 4.2."

Marcus Hendricks · Hendricks & Associates, Atlanta GA · 2-attorney PI firm · Signed Paralegal Teams ($4,200/mo) 7 weeks after review response onboarding

What closed the Paralegal Teams deal: Hendricks reached out after we'd been handling his reviews for 6 weeks. His intake coordinator had just quit. He already trusted us — the review work had been frictionless. He said: "You clearly know what you're doing. What else can you handle?" That's the pattern. Review Response builds trust. Paralegal Teams closes itself.

About CounterbenchAI

Founded by Philipp Rimmler — former strategy consultant, now focused entirely on the legal market. CounterbenchAI is the only service that combines an AI tool directory with a human paralegal team. The pitch isn't software or people — it's both. Philipp runs every client relationship personally at the start.

Line to use on calls: "Philipp came from the strategy consulting world and spent two years working with PI firms before building this. He's not a tech guy selling legal software — he understands how a PI practice actually runs."

WHAT WE SELL

Google Review Response

Entry Point

$175 / month — No contract

Law firms get negative Google reviews and ignore them. That silence reads as guilt to every potential client who checks. We write bar-compliant responses posted within 24 hours. The firm never touches Google.

- Every response written to Rule 7.1 standards
- No disclosure of client identity, no admission of facts
- Posted for them — zero effort required

Why attorneys buy: It's $175 and removes a visible liability. Easiest yes of anything we sell.

Paralegal Teams

Core Offer

$3,750 – $6,500 / month

AI-augmented paralegal support for PI law firms. Intake processing, document drafting, client communications, case status updates. We provide the team and the tools — they just tell us what they need.

- Fills paralegal gaps without the hiring overhead
- AI tools plus trained humans — not just software
- Scales with caseload

Why attorneys buy: They're drowning in intake and admin. A full-time paralegal costs $65k+ loaded. We're cheaper and faster to start.

THE MATH — MAKE IT UNAVOIDABLE

Use these numbers when prospects say "I need to think about it" or "that's a lot." The math closes the gap.

Review Response: $175/mo

AVERAGE PI CASE VALUE

$15k–$75k

Attorney fee at 33% contingency on a typical auto accident or slip-and-fall settlement

ANNUAL COST OF SERVICE

$2,100

Full year of review response coverage — less than a paralegal earns in a single week

The line to use: "One referred client who checked your reviews and walked away because you never responded to that 1-star — that's $15,000 in fees gone. We charge $2,100 a year. The math isn't close."

Paralegal Teams: $3,750–$6,500/mo

IN-HOUSE PARALEGAL (FULLY LOADED)

$65k–$82k

Salary + benefits + hiring cost + onboarding time.
Minimum 6-8 weeks to start contributing.

COUNTERBENCHAI (ANNUAL)

$45k–$78k

No benefits. No hiring cost. No turnover. Active in days, not months. Scales down if caseload drops.

The line to use: "You're not paying more. You're paying the same or less — but you skip the 8-week hiring process, the benefits overhead, and the risk of a bad hire. And you can pause us. You can't pause a salary."

COMMISSION STRUCTURE

PRODUCT	YOUR CUT	WHEN PAID	EXAMPLE PAYOUT
Google Review Response	$50 flat per signup	Month 1	10 signups = $500
Paralegal Teams	15% of MRR, months 1-12	Monthly as client pays	$3,750/mo client = $6,750 over 12 months

Clock starts on the date of first client payment. Commission stops at month 12 or when client churns — whichever comes first. Paralegal Teams example at max rate: $$6,500/\text{mo} \times 15\% \times 12 = \text{$11,700 per deal}$. Pricing is not negotiable by you — if a prospect pushes on price, hand off to Philipp.

Best Fit

- PI law firm, solo to 10 attorneys
- Fewer than 3 dedicated paralegals
- High intake volume (auto, slip/fall, workers comp)
- Managing partner also doing admin work
- Active on Google, not responding to reviews

Not a Fit

- Defense firms
- Large firms (20+ attorneys)
- Non-PI practices (for Paralegal Teams)

Note: Review Response works for any law firm — not PI-only.

Decision maker: Managing partner or firm owner. Not office manager.

"WHY NOW" TRIGGERS

These signals mean a firm is ready to buy today. Check before you reach out — it gives you a specific reason to call beyond the cold cadence.

- ⚡ New negative review posted in last 30 days — and no response from the firm. Search "[Firm Name] Google reviews" before calling. Name the specific review.
- ⚡ Paralegal job posting on Indeed or LinkedIn — they're understaffed and know it. This is an open admission of the problem we solve.
- ⚡ New attorney just joined the firm — growth moment. Workflows are being rebuilt. Great time to introduce infrastructure.
- ⚡ Managing partner changed in last 6 months — new leadership often moves fast on operational fixes.
- ⚡ High review volume, low average rating — visible problem, easy to quantify. "You've got 23 reviews and 3.8 stars. Three unanswered 1-stars are pulling you down."
- ⚡ Competitor firm in same market is responding to reviews — show them side by side. Nothing motivates action like a direct comparison.

SALES PROCESS

- 1 First Contact — Lead With Review Response
Use cold email templates + audit PDFs (from Philipp). $175/mo gets a fast yes. It builds trust before the bigger ask. Check "Why Now" triggers before sending — personalize to what you found.
- 2 Follow-Up (Day 4)
One follow-up max. Reference the specific audit: "Wanted to make sure this landed — I pulled [Firm]'s Google profile and found [X unanswered reviews]. Worth 5 minutes?"
- 3 Discovery Call (You Run It)
Goal: surface pain, confirm fit, set Philipp up to close. Never quote custom pricing. Send notes to Philipp within 1 hour of call ending.
- 4 Handoff to Philipp
Text
rimmler44@gmail.com or iMessage with: firm name, decision maker name, pain points surfaced, which product they want. Philipp closes and negotiates. You don't touch pricing.
- 5 Graceful Exit — When It's Not a Fit

If they're a defense firm, have 20+ attorneys, or have a fully-staffed ops team — don't push. Use: "Sounds like you've got it covered — if that ever changes or you want a second opinion on your review strategy, I'll send you our info." End clean. Don't burn the bridge.

What Happens After They Sign — Answer for Every Call

IF THEY ASK "SO WHAT HAPPENS NEXT?"

Review Response: "Philipp will email you a one-page onboarding form — takes 5 minutes. You tell us your firm's tone and any topics you want us to avoid. We're live within 48 hours."

Paralegal Teams: "Philipp will schedule a 30-minute kickoff call to map your intake workflow. Within one week you'll have a dedicated team member handling your first tasks. Most firms see meaningful output in the first 10 days."

Cold Call Opener

OPENING

"Hey [Name], it's [Rep] — I know this is out of nowhere, do you have 45 seconds?"

[If yes:]

"I work with CounterbenchAI — we handle Google review responses for PI firms. I checked [Firm]'s profile — you've got [X reviews, Y unanswered]. We post bar-compliant responses within 24 hours, $175 a month, no contract. Is that a real problem for you or not on your radar?"

[If not a good time:]

"No problem. Can I send you a 30-second email?"

Voicemail

"Hey [Name], it's [Rep] calling about [Firm]'s Google reviews — specifically the ones that haven't been answered. I'll send you a quick email. 30 seconds to read, might be worth it. Talk soon."

Discovery Call Opener

"Thanks for the time. Before I pitch anything — I just want to understand what's actually happening in your practice. When a new file comes in, what does the first 48 hours look like for your team?"

[Listen. Then:]

"And on the review side — are you actively responding to Google reviews today, or is that falling through the cracks?"

[Listen. Then surface the ROI math if they're not responding.]

OBJECTION HANDLING

"We already have paralegals."

We work alongside your team — we handle overflow and admin so your paralegals can focus on higher-value work.

"AI can't do legal work."

It's not just AI — it's trained paralegals using AI tools. You get human judgment with speed advantage.

"We're too small for this."

Solo and small firms are exactly who we built this for. No minimum caseload, no long-term commitment on the review side.

"$175 seems too cheap — what's the catch?"

No catch. It's a narrow, repeatable service — we're efficient at it. The value for us is the long-term relationship.

"We don't have budget right now."

$175/mo is less than a paralegal earns in a single hour. Start with the review service and revisit the rest next quarter.

"We already use [other software / VA service]."

Most firms using software still have the same intake backlog — the tool doesn't do the work. We do. See the battle card below.

BATTLE CARD — WHEN THEY MENTION A COMPETITOR

WHAT THEY USE	THEIR GAP	OUR EDGE
In-house paralegal	$65k+ loaded, 6-8 weeks to hire, turnover risk, fixed cost regardless of	We're on in days, scale with caseload, no benefits, no hiring cost. Use us to fill gaps

	volume	or overflow.
Virtual assistant / offshore VA	No legal training, bar compliance is a liability, no oversight, language issues on client calls	Trained paralegals who know PI intake. Bar-aware. U.S.-based communication standards.
Legal software (Clio, Lawmatics, etc.)	Software manages the workflow — someone still has to do the work inside it	We do the work, not just organize it. Software and humans are not substitutes.
"We're doing fine"	Unanswered reviews, intake delays, and partner doing admin are invisible until a client walks	Ask: "What's your current intake-to-file time?" If they pause, that's the answer.

KEY POSITIONING LINES

- "AI tools AND the team to run them — you don't have to choose."
- "Your reviews are public. Your silence is too."
- "We fill the paralegal gap without the hiring overhead."
- "We've read the bar rules so you can respond to a 1-star without getting a grievance."
- "One lost referral pays for two years of our service."

QUICK-REFERENCE CHEAT CARD — KEEP OPEN DURING CALLS

SITUATION	SAY THIS
Opening a cold call	"Hey [Name], do you have 45 seconds? I pulled [Firm]'s Google profile — you've got [X] unanswered reviews. We fix that for $175/mo. Worth a look?"
They ask "what is this exactly?"	"We write bar-compliant Google review responses for PI firms and post them within 24 hours. You never touch Google."
They ask "who are you?"	"I work with CounterbenchAI — founded by Philipp Rimmler, former strategy consultant, focused on PI law firms."
Price objection	"One lost referral from an unanswered review costs more than a full year of our service."
"We already have paralegals"	"We work alongside them — we handle overflow so they can focus on higher-value work."
"What happens after we sign?"	Review Response: "5-min onboarding form, live in 48 hours." / Paralegal Teams: "30-min kickoff, dedicated team member, first output in 10 days."
Ready to close	"Great — I'll loop in Philipp directly and he'll take it from here." Then text Philipp immediately.
Not a fit	"Sounds like you've got it covered — if that changes, I'll send you our info." Move on.

Success metric: A good week = 3 discovery calls booked. A great week = 1 handoff to Philipp. Don't measure yourself on closes — that's his job. Measure on calls booked.
